Conscious Jewelry has been seen on celebrities such as Alicia Keys, Jamie Lynn Sigler, and Anne Hathaway as well as in the pages of publications like Lucky Magazine and The Wall Street Journal. New to the jewelry market, Conscious Jewelry is already selling in world-renowned accessory destinations like Kirna Zabete NYC, Nieman Marcus and Vivre.

To look at Conscious Jewelry, you would never guess that it might help you breathe more clearly, digest your food more fully, ease you through menopause, or act as an anti-depressant. For every emotional or physical attribute there is a correlating stone.

Each piece of Conscious Jewelry comes with an explanation of its stones metaphysical meanings. Using minerals from the earth for healing, energy and personal growth has been practiced since the beginning of time and was the reason jewelry was originally created.

To find out how to choose a healing stone, go to the “stone meaning” page of consciousjewelry.com. Also see “care” to find out how to clear energize and program your stones!

Efforts are made to make Conscious Jewelry and the office it is created in as eco-conscious as possible with recycled stone meaning cards carrying vegetable ink dye and eco-friendly packaging. A portion of all proceeds goes to the National Parks Conservation Association.

The Story Behind Conscious Jewelry's healing pieces

Danna fell in love with crystals and their metaphysical meanings at the early age of fifteen. She created a necklace for herself with them and before she knew it she was selling necklaces to seventeen stores nationwide with Macy's trunk shows and features in magazines such as Seventeen and Redbook. During college Danna studied Fashion Design and consequently became an Editor for Cosmopolitan Magazine and soon after a Celebrity Stylist. She dressed well-known stars for events like the Oscars, until she fell ill with a fatal bacterial infection. It was during this time that Danna became reacquainted with crystals and gemstones by practicing the art of "the laying on of stones". She was so moved by the effects of properly placing the metaphysically healing pieces that she re-birthed her jewelry line, Conscious Jewelry, twenty years later, so that people could heal throughout the day and become aware of the stones and their very powerful healing properties. Today Danna is a Certified Crystal Healer and teaches Crystal Healing Workshops.
