Live Tweeting the Philadelphia Go Green Expo – Examiner.com

By: Ryan Taft

The Go Green Expo Philadelphia starts today at the Greater Philadelphia Expo Center, located 100 Station Avenue in Oaks, PA 19456. The Go Green Expo is going to be filled with Green vendors who make green products and sell green services to both businesses and consumers. The creators of the Go Green Expo hope to "help both businesses and consumers lead healthier, cleaner lives by helping them reduce their footprint on our beautiful planet. Follow @GoGreenExpo on Twitter to learn more.

I'm heading down to the Go Green Expo this morning and will be live tweeting the event for a few hours. Follow @RyanTaft to participate in the Live Tweets from the Go Green Expo. Let me know if there are any booths you want me to check out or questions that you have. Include the hashtag #PhillyGoGreen in your tweets and I'll be sure to respond.

To find out more about what you can expect to see at the Go Green Expo, check out Ryan Gerardi's Go Green Expo blog post. You can also text GoGreenExpo to 41513 for updated information on the event. Today's event is all about Business-to-Business products and services and then the rest of the weekend caters to both businesses and consumers interested in green products and services.

If you're interested in heading out to Oaks to check out the Go Green Expo, here's the schedule for this weekend's events:

- * Friday April 16, 2010: Business-to-Business Expo from 10am - 5pm
- * Saturday April 17, 2010: Business-to-Business & Business-to-Consumer Expo from 10am - 6pm
- * Sunday April 18, 2010: Business-to-Business & Business-to-Consumer Expo from 10am - 5pm

I'll be sure to update this article with as many of my tweets from the Go Green Expo Philadelphia as possible. If you can't follow along live today, check back tonight or tomorrow to get access to my tweets, images from the show, and much more.
